C Cuttino Committed Salcide This Morning by Shooting Himself.

The people of Sumter who knew him were shocked when it became known that Henry C. Cuttino had ended his own life by shooting himself with a pis tol while in an outhouse in his back vard. The ball entered over the right ear and passed through the head, coming out on the other side, death being Died last night at the home of Mr, C pronounced by the attending physician white in Manning. Mrs. — rs instantaneous following the shot. When the body was found by his little daughter, Mr. Cuttino had evidently been dead for some time, as it was cold. The sad tragedy must have occured sometime between 8 and 9 o'clock, for 23rd, at the Methodist parsonage in with his family, as usual, he bade his Manning, Dr. Watson B. Duncan per-wife good-bye and started out with his wife good-bye and started out with his oldest daughter, who was leaving to go down town to her work at the Western Union Telegraph office. Hhe started toward the woodpile, where he usually cut wood before going to his office. This was the last seen of him alive. No one in the house heard the shot, or, f they did, thought it was some kind of Christmas fireworks out in the street. It was after 9 o'clock when one of his little daughters found him in the building in the yard. The mem bers of the family and a physician were telephoned for at once, but he had been dead for some time then. Mr Henry C. Cuttino was a native
